SOP 17 — Fiverr Operations

Recurring tasks, gig optimization, early delivery protocol, and the buffer-consent script.

TIER 1 · EMPLOYEE-FACING

Standalone Document: Fiverr operations live in this isolated SOP, separate from general client work protocols.

1. Recurring Optimization Tasks

Gigs must never go un-optimized for more than 30 days. Missing this is a massive flag.

Task	Frequency	Owner	Details
Fiverr Account Manager Call	Monthly	Sameh	Booked like clockwork with Mattan (or her peers).
Analytics & Gig Optimization	Monthly	Nabil + Sameh	Group exercise based on findings from the manager call.
Chat Quality Review	Every 2–3 days (max 7)	Nabil	Review of day-to-day Fiverr communication quality.

2. Order Onboarding & Communication

Once an order is active, the onboarding process is the non-negotiable first step.

1 Thank the client.

2 Collect WhatsApp + Email. This is mandatory, no exceptions.

3 Ask to move communication. Ask if they are OK being added to a Slack channel for premium direct catering/pampering. If not Slack → WhatsApp group. If not WhatsApp → email thread (Fiverr only allows one chatter).

3. Delivery & Buffer Time Protocol

Final Delivery Rule: Final delivery to the client must occur 3 days prior to the actual Fiverr deadline.

The Buffer-Consent Script

For all new orders, the correspondent must FIRST ask the client's consent to add buffer time onto the timeline (e.g., adding 3–5 extra days to a 9-day agreed deadline for revision/feedback, protecting us against the Fiverr algorithm).

Approved Script: "Thank you so much for your order! To ensure we have ample time for any revisions or feedback you might have without rushing the process, would you be comfortable if we added a 3 to 5 day buffer to the official Fiverr delivery clock? This won't delay our actual internal delivery to you, but it protects the project timeline on the platform while we perfect it together."

4. Media-Links Checklist

Showreels and media links shared with leads must be pulled from a verified checklist. You must verify each link is still uploaded, active, valid, working, and updated. Do not paste old or wrong links from pinned clipboard snippets or outdated templates.
